SendSuite® Tracking
Distribution technology for total control

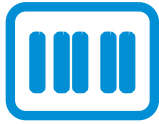

Receive.
Transfer.
Deliver.
Track.

Wherever, whenever.

Managing incoming mail can be a headache. You might have large campuses, multi-tenanted buildings or different geographic locations. The risks are obvious - loss or delay can jeopardise customer and supplier relationships, threaten service-level agreements or affect the bottom line. SendSuite tracking software gives you peace of mind and complete control.

- Log expected urgent items before they arrive by setting up email alerts triggered on initial delivery
 - Tackle personal deliveries by inviting employees to collect in person
 - Automatically email recipients once their item is received
 - Get instant updates as items reach their destination
 - Ensure security by requiring signature or employee ID badge
 - Alert users of attempted delivery via email
 - Simplify tracking by consolidating multiple items with PouchMail so one signature delivers multiple packages

6 simple steps.

1. Check in. A scanner records receipt, date and time and communicates automatically with addressee advising package received and available for either collection or delivery

2. Manifest. Outstanding deliveries are transferred onto portable data collectors organised by delivery route.

3. Deliver. Operators deliver to nominated locations or the intended addressee.

4. Track. SendSuite gives you the ability to see the real-time status of any item - who had it, who has it now, when they received it and where the item is.

5. Log. Monitor everything from delivering and picking up mail to tracking copier toner, print jobs and much more.

6. Report. Create and generate extensive reports and analysis to ensure you are meeting service level agreements. Receiving and delivery logs, damage reports, route analysis and productivity reports are all available.
